MONTHLY UPDATE

For the month of January 2023, the KKR Credit Income Fund • ("KKC" or the "Trust") recorded a total net return of +3.79%<sup>2</sup>.

KKC declared a distribution of A0.011 (0.49% of NTA) for the month. KKC expects investors to receive A0.011 per month for the current financial year<sup>2</sup>. This is in line with the announced FY23 distribution estimate of A0.13125 or 5.25% (based on Issue Price). As of the 31 January NTA of A2.29, this represents a yield of ~5.74%.

The weighted average price of the underlying assets in the portfolio stood at 90.2% of par as at month end. The Yield to Maturity, which is inversely related to prices, stood at 12.5% as at month end<sup>4</sup>. The current yield of the underlying assets in the portfolio was 9.7% as at month end<sup>4</sup>.

Key portfolio positioning and changes in the underlying portfolio from 31 December 2022 and 31 January 2023<sup>5</sup>:

- Defaulted assets continue to be absent for KKC with 0% of the portfolio (% based upon Market Value) rated as "D" by Rating Agencies<sup>6</sup>;
- The proportion of floating rate assets in the fund is at 70%, the majority of which are loans. Loan coupons are generally based on 3-month LIBOR plus a fixed credit spread. Because the interest rate component of the coupon resets quarterly, loans have a low interest rate duration of approximately 0.25 years. Loans and other floating rate assets can act as a natural hedge against inflation and rising interest rates. The portfolio is still intentionally overweight floating rate assets and has a low duration of 1.1 years compared to ~4 years for the bond market as a whole;

Software & Services and Capital Goods remain the two largest industry groups at ~19% and 14% respectively. A detailed breakdown by industry group can be seen on the next page with the fund having less than 10% exposure to the Retail sector. The portfolio is heavily weighted towards companies that have a robust business model regardless of economic conditions. The fund is also deliberately underweight Energy with only 1% of the portfolio invested in this industry group;

FUND

 KKC's exposure to senior secured assets currently stands at ~62%. Senior secured assets, which are secured by a collateral package from the borrower, afford greater downside protection for our investors, relative to unsecured assets (38%).

European Direct Lending (EDL) had no new additions or realisations over the month. EDL was ~77% net deployed (on a Cost basis) across 36 privately originated assets as at month end.

MARKET UPDATE

In January, high yield bonds posted their strongest start to a calendar year since 2019, as several positive macro surprises boosted the sentiment around global growth and the inflation narrative. Specifically, the high yield bond market returned +3.75% in January while bank loans provided a gain of +2.58%. The overall KKC return outperformed the market primarily due to the CCC assets within the portfolio, which performed best over the month. By comparison, 10-year Treasuries and high-grade bonds returned +2.74% and +3.87% respectively.

KKC OVERVIEW

The Trust aims to provide investors with attractive, riskadjusted returns and access to a diversified portfolio of income generating alternative credit investments through the Trust's investment across strategies managed by the credit investment teams of Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co. L.P. ("KKR").

These strategies comprise the Global Opportunistic Credit strategy and European Direct Lending strategy, which seek to take advantage of the attractive opportunities that KKR sees in the market. The Trust's investment objective is to provide an income stream as well as to achieve attractive long-term capital appreciation over a full market cycle.

The Trust seeks to deliver investors with a distribution yield of 4% - 6% per annum<sup>(2)</sup>, paid monthly in arrears. KKC has announced that for the financial year ended June 2023, KKC is targeting a distribution of +5.25% based on the issue NTA per unit of A$2.50<sup>2</sup> (13.125c per year). The Trust continues to target a medium-term average total return of 6% - 8% per annum<sup>(7)</sup>.

The Trust is appropriate for investors with "High" risk and return profiles. A suitable investor for this fund is prepared to accept high risk in the pursuit of capital growth with a
