Performance and Attribution:

For the month of July 2023, the KKR Credit Income Fund ("KKC" or the "Trust") delivered a return of +1.42%<sup>(2)</sup>.

The table below provides a summary of how each portfolio grouping performed over the month:

KKC – MTD Performance By Asset Class	Contributors	Detractors
	High Yield Bonds	-
	Loans	-
By Rating	B	BB
	BBB	CCC
	CC and Below	-
By Sector	Basic Industry	Healthcare
	Media	Leisure
	Real Estate	Telecommunications

Dividend Update:

KKC declared a distribution of A$0.0167 (0.72% of NTA) for the month. This is in line with the announced FY24 distribution estimate of A$0.0167. As of 31 July ASX Unit Price of A$2.04, this represents a yield of ~9.82%<sup>(2)</sup>.

The weighted average price of the underlying assets in the portfolio stood at 93.0% of par as at month end. The Yield to Maturity, which is inversely related to prices, stood at 11.9% as at month end<sup>(3)</sup>. The current yield of the underlying assets in the portfolio was 10.2% as at month end<sup>(3)</sup>.

Market Update:

U.S. high-yield bond spreads tightened to a low since April 2022, with outperformance down in quality as investors absorbed US activity data that signal growth resilience and moderating inflation, negligible supply, better-than-expected earnings and Fed commentary which seemed more dovish with respect to future policy actions. Specifically, the U.S. high yield bond market was up +1.4% in July while U.S. bank loans provided a similar return of +1.3%.

Portfolio Update:

Key portfolio positioning and changes in the underlying portfolio from 30 June 2023 to 31 July 2023, along with a Portfolio Case Study on p.3:

- The proportion of floating rate assets in the fund is at 70%, the majority of which are loans. Loans and other floating rate assets can act as a natural hedge against inflation and rising interest rates. The portfolio is still intentionally overweight floating rate assets and has a low duration of 1.0 years compared to ~4 years for the bond market as a whole;
- Software & Services and Capital Goods remain the two largest industry groups at ~19% and ~17% respectively. A detailed breakdown by industry group can be seen on the next page with the fund having less than 7% exposure to the Retail sector. The fund is also deliberately underweight Energy with ~1% of the portfolio invested in this industry group;
- KKC's exposure to senior secured assets currently stands at ~63%. Senior secured assets, which are secured by a collateral package from the borrower, afford greater downside protection for our investors, relative to unsecured assets (37%);
- European Direct Lending (EDL) had no new addition or realizations over the month of July. EDL represents ~43% of KKC's portfolio invested across 36 assets as at month end.
