MONTHLY UPDATE

For the month of March 2021, the KKR Credit Income Fund ("KKC" or the "Trust") recorded a total net return of  $\pm 1.29\%^{1}$ . KKC also declared a distribution of  $\pm 0.025$  ( $\pm 1.01\%^{1}$ ) for the March quarter which was paid on  $\pm 15$ th April 2021.

For the same month, US high yield bonds ("HYBs") reported a return of +0.39% and US senior loans had a positive return of +0.05%<sup>2</sup>. CCC rated assets in both the HYB and loan markets outperformed both BB and B rated assets<sup>5</sup> as the US continues to re-open and out of favour sectors such as Transportation and Leisure performed strongly. KKC's largest holding in February, an issuer in the Leisure sector, was repaid in March • illustrating the strong confidence in the sector.

US HYB mutual funds reported net outflows in February. Specifically, HY funds reported a USD$5.9bn (A$7.7bn) net outflow during the month<sup>2</sup>. Fund flows are an important metric to track as this creates demand for assets, impacting prices in the market.

The Yield to Maturity for the underlying assets in KKC (which is inversely impacted by an increase in price), stood at 7.6% as of March month-end<sup>3</sup>. The weighted average price of assets in the portfolio stands at 100.2%. The current yield of the underlying assets in the portfolio was 7.0% as at month end<sup>3</sup>.

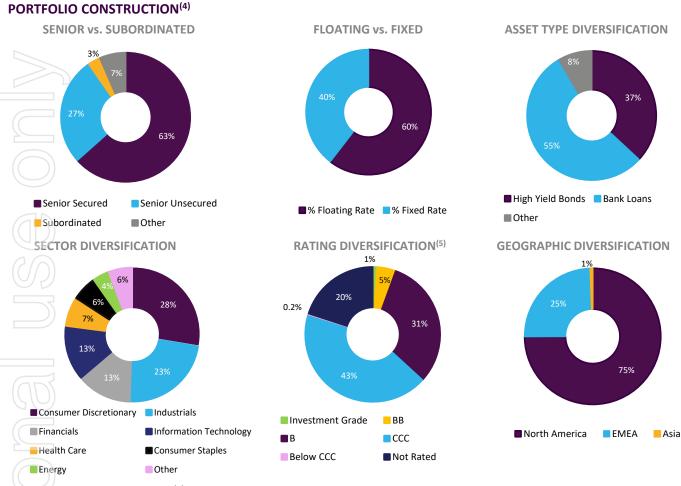

Some month to month changes in the underlying portfolio are described below. All these movements reference the portfolio change between 28 February 2021 and 31 March 2021:<sup>4</sup>

- the number of issuers in the portfolio increased to 204;
- the concentration of the top 10 holdings reduced to 22.2%. There is a new top holding now; a German based pan-European beauty retailer. It was previously a <1% position in the portfolio that has been added to with the issuance of new debt;
- The proportion of floating rate assets has decreased slightly to 60%. Loans and other floating rate assets can act as a natural hedge vs. rising rates as the coupons are generally based on 3-month LIBOR (i.e. quarterly rate reset or duration of ~0.25yrs). The portfolio is still intentionally overweight floating rate assets and the portfolio currently has a low duration of 1.3 years compared to ~4 years for the bond market as a whole;
- Consumer Discretionary and Industrials remain the two largest sectors at 28% and 23% respectively;
- Including EDL assets (which are primarily not rated), the ratings split is as follows: 31% of assets are rated B, 43% rated CCC and 20% of the portfolio is Not Rated<sup>5</sup>; and
- KKC's exposure to senior assets currently stands at 90%.

EDL had one new addition during the month (a UK based systems software business). There were no realisations during the month. EDL was ~36% net deployed (on a Cost basis) across 19 privately originated assets as at month end.

FOOTNOTES

(1) Distribution % calculated as the distribution per unit divided by the closing NTA of the previous month. The multi period calculations sum the dividend yields received and does not compound them.

(2) Source: JP Morgan as of 31 March 2021. JP Morgan has not consented to the inclusion of this statement in this document.

(3) This yield represents the views of KKR Credit as of 31 March 2021 regarding the likely current yields of investments in GCOF, KKC's GCOFstyle SMA and EDL over a full market cycle and is subject to change. There is no guarantee that the assumptions upon which estimated current yields are based will materialise as anticipated. This YTM excludes cash balances.

(4) Based on look through to KKC's underlying funds. Represents GCOF and EDL assets as of 31 March 2021.

(5) Source: KKR as of 31 March 2021. Credit ratings are statements of opinion of a relevant credit agency about the likelihood of a borrower to meet its interest and principal payment and repayment obligations when they fall due. Credit ratings are not statements of fact or recommendations to purchase, hold or sell securities. Credit ratings do not address the suitability of securities or the suitability of securities for investment purposes, and should not be relied upon as investment advice.

(6) Net of fees and expenses incurred by the Trust, but before tax, paid quarterly. The target distribution is only a target and may not be achieved.

(7) Target medium-term average total return net of fees and expenses incurred by the Trust, before tax. The distribution yield over a given period may be lower than the total return in this period to the extent that the total return includes unrealised gains. Investors should review the Risk summary set out in Section 1 and Section 8 of the PDS for important information regarding Target Total Returns and the Trust's ability to achieve them. Past performance is not indicative of future results.
